

NOT FORGOTTEN: FIRST WORLD WAR MEMORIALS IN AND AROUND MACCLESFIELD

By Geoff Archer

The book shows the wide range and number of war memorials produced in Macclesfield and the surrounding villages, ranging from simple plaques or tablets, through statues, stained glass windows, obelisks, crosses and crucifixes, to more utilitarian memorials such as halls, hospitals and alms houses. It aims to provide some explanation of the processes of commemoration, of the social and artistic contexts in which memorials were planned, and of the intended meanings and interpretations of what was produced.

On sale at Macclesfield Visitor Information Centre and Macclesfield Reflects events, or may be purchased directly from the author.
